MARYLAND AND KENTUCKY.

The southern papers advise us that great disappointment is felt at the coolness of the Maryland people toward the rebels in their recent invasion, and still better news is received of the stern coldness of the entire population of Kentucky toward Kirby Smith and his invading army. At Lexington the feeling against the rebels has not in the least changed since their occupation, it is said, and few or none join their forces as recruits. The advance of Kirby Smith and Drury is likely to be barren of results such as were anticipated, and beyond the score which was indulged in at Cincinnati and at Louisville, there will be nothing done that cannot be done as soon as energetic generals are placed in command in that department. It is deeply humiliating to find that mere bluster and display on the part of the rebels suffices to drive us out of the best districts of Kentucky, where the inhabitants are almost all loyal; but it is a consolation to know that these reverses came from other causes than a rising of the people in rebellion, in districts we had come to regard as firmly established in loyalty.

It is evident now that the good sense of the people of Kentucky is in the ascendant sufficient to enable us to trust them through all the contingencies of the war. They have before them the alternative of being protected in loyalty and of being utterly ruined if disloyal. They see that power must remain in the hands of the United States, and, therefore, what they lose as loyal men, either to property or in slaves, can be made good when the war is over. But if disloyal all that they have will be lost. Property taken by either army from a secessionist will never be restored, and slaves if not kept in the chains of war, will be set free by the operation of the laws already enacted. Tempting as it might appear to many half disloyal men of Kentucky and Maryland to make a venture in the rebel service, they have still such a certainty of being on the weaker side hereafter staring them in the face that few will try it.

As a consequence of the prevailing discretion in Maryland, it is said that the secession exiles of that State at Richmond are decidedly in disfavor. Lions and pets as they have been hitherto, they are not qualified for the rough usage that falls to the lot of the more common secess, yet they must come to it, and earn their title by hard labor to the consideration of the original traitors. As the fortunes of the rebellion wane in future, their case will be more and more uncomfortable, until they will look with longing for a return to the State they have abandoned. It has been the fashion with the resident secess of Maryland to talk of tyranny and despotism, and suffering under the rule of the Union, since the war began; but it must already be apparent that a Maryland rebel in the rebel service, or resident at Richmond, is under a practical tyranny a hundred times as odious as that which simply compels one of that style of thinking to be himself at home in Maryland.

From Kentucky scarcely a word has been yet heard in response to the President's proclamation. It is earnestly hoped that the recent distresses they have endured may have tempered the earnestness of their purpose to have things exactly their own way. The Union must be saved and those who suffer by the war are primarily the residents of the Border States. To save them from utter ruin we must sustain the course indicated in the proclamation, however loudly it may grate on their feelings for the moment.

The Philadelphia Evening Bulletin denies, with great emphasis, the statement of our Washington correspondent, that six regiments of Pennsylvania militia recently refused to leave that State to reinforce Gen. McClellan. We are glad to make the correction. Gov. Curtin thus speaks of the Pennsylvania militia:

"The militia with which the people in every section of the Commonwealth rallied to the rescue of their brethren on the Cumberland Valley border, is worthy of the highest measure of praise. Although not required by the terms of the call to pass the borders of the State, our brave men, untried in the rigors of war, and untrained in military movements, not only entered Maryland, but held Hagerstown against an advancing foe, pressed forward to the Potomac, and resisted the threatened movement of the Rebels upon Williamsport, until the troops in the United States service arrived and relieved them. Their timely and heroic action has saved the State from the tread of an invading enemy, whose necessities made even military strategy subordinate to plunder."—N. Y. Tribune.

Not Dead.—A report has obtained currency that Dr. W. Argyle Watson, of the U. S. Steamer B. R. Cuyler, died a few weeks since of yellow fever. We are happy to state that such is not the fact. Dr. Watson has recovered from the fever, and will soon be ready for duty. Dr. W., who is in town, expresses a high sense of gratitude toward Dr. Harell, of the British steamer frigate Melampus, which was fallen in with off Nassau, and also to her commander. The latter, learning that the officers of the Cuyler were suffering from yellow fever, Dr. Harell, on board, Dr. W. was exceedingly devoted in his care of the sick, and the commander and officers of the Melampus were commencing in their attentions.—Herald.

THE COLLECTORS OF THE NATIONAL

Important Instructions to the Collectors.

The collectors appointed under the recent act of Congress to collect the national tax are making their arrangements and will soon commence operations. The Commissioner of Revenue at Washington has just issued the following important regulations to the collectors in this locality:

1. All mechanics, except those who merely do repairs, must be registered as manufacturers, and must take out a license as such if their annual sales amount to $1000.
2. But mechanics and other manufacturers who sell their own manufactures at the place where they are produced are not required to take out an additional license as traders. This does not include retailers, who must pay both licenses.
3. If manufacturers have an office, depot, store-room, or agency, at a place distant from the place where the goods are made, or if they sell the manufactures of others, in addition to their own, they must pay a trader's license, as well as a manufacturer's. Thus, a tobacconist who both makes cigars and keeps for sale goods in his line, which he has purchased, must take out both licenses. So must a druggist, who also makes patent articles, or medicines, &c., for which he has a private license or receipt.
4. Persons keeping bar-rooms or saloons for the sale of liquors must take out a liquor dealer's license. If they also furnish food, they must, in addition, take out an eating-house license; and the sale of cigars, &c., require a tobacconist's or retail dealer's license besides. Billiard tables require a special license, and bagatelle tables are reckoned as billiards.
5. Commission merchants, who are also ship or commercial brokers, are required to take out two licenses.
6. Grocers selling flour by the barrel, or salt by the sack, or any other article in the original package, are reckoned as wholesale dealers.
7. Stamps must be attached to the papers requiring them at the time of their execution, and must be obliterated by the person writing his initials upon them. Telegraphic dispatches must be stamped and effaced when delivered to be transmitted. But railroad and telegraph companies are not required to stamp their own dispatches over their own lines.
8. Arrangements will be made with the collector of this district to supply stamps to parties desiring to purchase $50 worth or over, at the rate of five cents established by the Treasury Department.
9. Notes and bills of exchange drawn for a certain sum, with interest, will be stamped according to the principal sum. Foreign currency will be estimated at the real par of exchange; the pound sterling, for instance, at the rate fixed for sovereigns, not at the nominal rate of 44 3/4 s., nor at the market rate of exchange, which is now something above the real par.
10. On and after October 1 the following instruments must be stamped: All agreements, appraisements, checks, sight drafts, promissory notes, inland and foreign bill of exchange, bills of lading for foreign ports, packages, &c., per express, bonds, certificates of stock, or profit, of deposit in banks, of damages, and all other certificates, charter parties, brokers' memorandums, conveyances, mortgages, leases, telegraphic dispatches, contracts, entries and manifests, policies of insurance, life, marine and fire, and renewals of same; the passage tickets for foreign ports, powers of attorney, proxies, writs of habeas corpus, warrants, receipts, and probate or other original process for commencing suit. Also, patent medicines, perfumeries and playing cards.

In reference to public houses and liquor dealers exclusively, it is defined that in a tavern or public house where liquor is sold licenses must be taken for each business, the license for the tavern to be according to the rental, and the license for liquor in all cases of retail to be twenty dollars. By retail is understood any quantity under three gallons. To sell above that quantity is wholesale, and the license is one hundred dollars. Restaurants which furnish bedding, and which keep liquors, are required to obtain three licenses—first a tavern license, secondly a license for the liquor bar, of twenty dollars, and thirdly a license for the eating bar, costing ten dollars, when the receipts amount to or exceed one thousand dollars per year. Eating houses are permitted to keep confectionery without an additional license.

All dealers in liquor by retail are required to pay a license of twenty dollars per year. The penalty for refusal or failure to take out license is a fine of three times the amount of duty or tax imposed by the law, one half of which goes to the informer.—These taxes are, of course, in addition to the State and city licenses now imposed, and the accumulation of expenses will materially affect the smaller dealers who abound in every part of the city. The prosecution of delinquents is made imperative on the collectors, who hold the names and residences of all dealers, so that escape from the penalty is next to impossible.

Death of Robert H. Lee, Jr.—We regret to learn that Lieut. R. H. Lee, Jr., died this morning at 2 o'clock, at Hagerstown, Md. It will be recollected that he was wounded while serving on Gen. Rodman's staff at the battle of Antietam. The wound, which was probably caused by a piece of a shell that killed his horse, proved to be a most serious one, that his unacclimated system was poorly fitted to endure; and when dysentery set in the result was fatal. His father, Messrs. William and Robert H. L. Goddard and Dr. L. L. Miller were present when he died. His age was about 23 years. This deplorable event adds the sacrifice of life to the already lavish offerings of a leading and estimable family upon the altar of our beloved country.—Press.

Lord's Reputation in Virginia.—Governor Letcher has issued his third proclamation, calling upon the people of Virginia between the ages of thirty-five and forty-five to enroll themselves under command of that volunteers' corps, John B. Floyd. These proclamations were based upon a law of the rebel Legislature of Eastern Virginia, passed on the 17th of May, which authorized the executive to commission John B. Floyd a Major General of the State, after he had been elected one of the Confederate service, and empowering him to raise an independent force of ten thousand men. Four months have passed and the men are not enrolled. Hence the Governor's third proclamation.

It has been stated, "we think," that the Indian outbreak and massacre of women and children in Minnesota was the indirect if not the positive work of the Rebel leaders. Monstrous as this assertion is, it is true by their own confession. The proof is in the following paragraph, which we cut from The Richmond Dispatch of the 24th inst.:

As we expected.—The Yankees are about to send their army captured at Harper's Ferry against the Indians. Has the Government no means of retaliating for such a breach of faith?

The Stamp Tax on Telegraphic Messages.—The Commissioner of Internal Revenue, among the numerous decisions upon questions continually presented, has decided that the stamp tax imposed upon telegraphic messages is not required to be paid upon business messages of the telegraph line of their own. It is also decided that when the law goes into effect, on the 1st of October, the stamp will be affixed by the sender of the message, and marked with his initials and no message is to be sent without having been thus previously stamped.

President Lincoln's proclamation to emancipate the slaves is commended in favorable terms by the Press of San Francisco; generally, the leading journals heartily endorsing his policy.

GENERAL MURRAY.

It was near Sharpsburg and not at Boll Run that Surgeon General Humphreys reports the death of 3000 rebel dead.

James Dorman, formerly of Newport, has been commissioned Major of the 3d Regt. Mass. Vols., a nine months' regiment.

Mr. George F. Andrews, formerly of Providence, has taken the editorial chair of the Plymouth Rock newspaper.

The migration to the port of New York for this year, up to this date, shows an increase of nearly 5000 over that for a corresponding period in 1861.

So much of General Orders No. 125, as dismissed Surgeon Edward B. Dalton, of the 36th New York Volunteers, has been revoked by direction of the President.

A drafted man in Hartford paid $500 for a substitute. The latter failing to appear it was ascertained that another man had also procured him a substitute, paying a little more.

It is stated in Washington, on what seems good authority, that Col. Miles was shot by his own guard during the capture, instead of being killed by a shell.

Gov. Stanley of North Carolina, having transacted his official business at Washington, will return home at once. His relations with the government are said to be harmonious.

The Great Eastern had a hole 80 feet long and three feet wide made in her bottom by striking a rock in Long Island Sound. She remains at Flushing.

That was rather an intelligent contraband at Detroit, who, having purchased his ticket into Canada, upon being required to show a pass, drew his hand over his shady face, and said, "Dis my passport."

Logic.—I don't believe it's any use to vaccinate for small pox," said a backwoods Kentuckian "for I had a child vaccinated, and in less than a week after, he fell out of a window and was killed."

Cardie says that each man carries under his coat a "private theatre," wherein is acted a greater drama than is ever performed on the mimic stage, beginning and ending in eternity!

Gen. McClellan has issued orders reducing the number of wagons allowed the different army corps, so that officers and soldiers will be compelled to diminish their baggage and keep always in light marching order.

Thirty-six rebel steamers have been destroyed or captured on the Mississippi and its tributaries. The Western flotilla, which has been maintained by the War Department, will be turned over to the Navy Department on the 1st of October.

It is reported that when the rebel army entered Sharpsburg, on their retreat to the Potomac they were in such an exhausted and starved condition that some of them who were unable to procure food actually wept from hunger exhaustion and disappointment.

It is stated that the statistical report of the Sanitary Commission, soon to be issued, will show that, taking the first nine months of the war as a basis for calculation, the mortality of our soldiers is much below that of any European army.

Important discoveries are said to have been made in England, to enable just to be used to great extent as a substitute for cotton. That article has advanced nearly fifty per cent. since the beginning of the month, and is greatly excited. Hemp is also considerably higher.

Gen. McClellan has organized an ambulance corps for each division of the army, under command of a captain, with a 1st Lieutenant for each division, a 2d Lieutenant for each brigade, and a sergeant for each regiment, to have control of all ambulances and transportation carts.

Geo. F. Train delivered an eloquent speech in the Boston Music Hall on Thursday night. He denounced the Abolitionists and praised the President, and announced his intention to stamp every village in Massachusetts against the re-election of Hon. Charles Sumner to the United States Senate.

Cannons for marine service are being cast at Australia from a new metal composed of 600 parts copper, 332 parts zinc and 18 parts iron. Its tenacity is said to be excessive, it is easily forged and bored and when cold it may be bent considerably without breaking; its resistance is far greater than that of iron of the best quality.

On Thursday last at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, the organization of a company of nine months' volunteers was commenced at Erie, N. Y., and that at two o'clock in the afternoon of the same day the company was completed, and in the evening started for Harrisburg. This is quick, and speaks well for the patriotism of the citizens of Erie.

General Cassius M. Clay has definitely abandoned all idea of returning to Russia, and will serve his country unconditionally in the field, wherever the Commander-in-Chief may send him. Mr. Cameron, his successor as minister to Russia, is expected back to this country early in November, and the duties of the legation will probably devolve on his secretary, Bayard Taylor.

At Indianapolis last week, there was a great demand for immediate movement of cannon and ammunition to Cincinnati, but draymen could not be procured—many of them saying that they had not bailed for the government, and would not; whereas, in less than an hour, forty draymen were pressed into the service without further ceremony.

Fred. Douglas has written a long letter to Postmaster-General Blair, in reply to one received from the latter gentleman urging his co-operation with the President's colonization scheme, which he pronounces impracticable. He says, "the negroes like this country well enough, and are unwilling to emigrate, and declares himself opposed to it."

A Provost-Marshal-General is to be appointed in the War Department, with one or more Special Marshals in each State, whose business it will be to arrest deserters, and upon the warrant of a Judge Advocate; all disloyal persons recover embezzled property, and detect spies. We suppose the machinery for the enforcement of the late proclamation almost treacherous conduct.

During the Seven Years' War an schismatist offered his services to Ferdinand, Duke of Brunswick, for the purpose of converting him into gold. "By no means," answered the duke; "I want iron to fight the French, and as for gold, I get it from England. But if you are able to convert iron into gold and calve and iron, you are my man. The former make great havoc in my military stores; and the latter I stand in great need of."

As the Acting Quartermaster at Alexandria has within the past week, discharged over two hundred vessels, the greater portion of which have been in the employ of government since the war of the Potomac, took the water route to Richmond and it is fair to suppose that there is no disposition to start again by water. The expense of keeping these vessels must have been enormous.

In this age of minute rifles, telescopic sights and sharpshooters, it will not do for soldiers to wear red. Of all the colors, that is the very best to "draw a bead on." An aim which might be impossible at a green, blue, grey or neutral tint, becomes fearfully exact when it is brought to bear on a flaming red target. About three-fourths of the casualties among them are said to be in the red-tinted legs.

Patriotism of Iowa.—Is not Iowa the banner State? Her quotas under both calls have been raised, and every man is enlisted for three years—not one for nine months. Since the 1st of August Iowa has organized twenty-two regiments, of which have been sent to the field, and sent to the front are only waiting for arms and uniforms. She has also sent 2,000 recruits to her old regiments.

The London Times.—The Duke of Wellington

very clearly expressed his idea of the honesty and integrity of this "leading journal," when he wrote in reference to its editorial.

The path is not a narrow one, a relief to the editor of the Times in his daily and arduous task, the reason he has accepted of its nomination.

On Saturday, Sept. 27th, at his residence, Malbrou Farn, J. Prescott Hall, in the 67th year of his age. Notice of the funeral will be given to-morrow.

Dr. Sweet's Infallible Liniment

FOR HORSES.

Is unfitted by any, and in all cases of Lameness, arising from Sprains, Bruises or Wrenching, its effect is magical and certain. Harness or Saddle Galls, Scratches, Mange, &c., it will also cure speedily. Sprain and Ringbone may be easily prevented and cured in their incipient stages, but confirmed cases are beyond the possibility of a radical cure. No case of the kind, however, is so desperate or hopeless but it may be alleviated by this Liniment, and its faithful application will always remove the Lameness, and enable the horse to travel with comparative ease.

Every horse owner should have this remedy at hand for the timely use, the first appearance of Lameness will effectively prevent those formidable diseases mentioned, to which all horses are liable, and which render so many otherwise valuable horses nearly worthless.

CENTREVILLE OCCUPIED.

The New York Times correspondent at Centreville, Thursday, says the advance division of Gen. Sigel's corps under command of Col. Von Gilsa of the 40th N. Y. Volunteers, De Kalb Regt. reached this place on Monday last via Falls Church and Fairfax Court House. No enemy was found on the road to intercept any obstacle to the progress of the troops or to taking possession of the fortifications on the arrival here, except a few scattering horsemen who fled before our scouts could bring their cartridges to bear upon them.

On Tuesday Brig. Gen. Stuhl reached this point with an additional force and now has command of the place and occupies the house of Mrs. Whaley as his headquarters. The usual precautions have been taken to prevent a surprise by the enemy and since Monday scouting parties have been sent out daily in different directions.

This afternoon Gen. Sigel made his headquarters at Fairfax Court House and has with him the balance of his corps. The future actions of these troops are as yet involved in mystery, at all events so far as news papers correspondents are concerned.

MUSKETS FOUND AND CANNONS EXHUMED.

New York, 20th.

The Sharpsburg correspondent of a morning paper states that nearly a hundred rebel muskets were found yesterday morning, many of them having the name of the owners cut on the stock. I saw one a Springfield rifle whose bearer had come away from Arkansas.

It is stated by a surgeon in Hagerstown that the rebels left sixty heavy cannon, which they were unable to carry away, across the river buried this side putting up boards with the muzzles of imaginary persons and that they have been exhumed.

FROM THE WEST.

Cincinnati, 26th.

Last night the rebel cavalry captured Augusta Ky. on the Ohio river, 40 miles above this city. After robbing the houses they destroyed the place. The citizens fled to the Ohio side as speedily as possible.

Hon. Wm. H. Polk passed through this city to-night as bearer of dispatches from Andy Johnson to President Lincoln.

All business was totally suspended in this city yesterday from 2 to 5 p. m. All the citizens being under drill. The turn out was large.

Fort Monroe, 27th.

The Steamer S. R. Spaulding arrived here this morning as also did the Friendship. The steamerboat Metamora left here this p. m. with a cargo of "truce" in charge of Capt. Saunders of the 3d N. Y.
